

What is the EPR?

EPR stands for Electronic Patient Record. The EPR is a digital system to manage clinical information, making it easily available for use by health and care staff.

The EPR programme is a flagship project for our three acute hospitals in Norfolk and Waveney and will enable organisation-wide transformation of how we work and deliver care.

At the moment, many parts of our acute hospitals in Norfolk and Waveney are reliant on paper-based patient notes which can take time for staff to find and complete.

The EPR programme will switch the hospitals from using paper to digital notes which are held in one system for many of our clinical and operational services.
